Headline:
Feeling warm, but rain pushing in from the west.

Today:
A cloudy start in the north and west, bringing with it some patchy light rain, occasionally heavy. While generally drier and brighter elsewhere, there remains a small risk of an odd shower in the afternoon. Feeling pleasant in the sunshine. Maximum temperature 21 deg C (70 deg F).

Tonight:
A bright and dry evening in the south, until cloud and outbreaks of showery rain arrives from the west, locally heavy at times. Driest further south. A mild night. Minimum temperature 13 deg C (55 deg F).

Sunday:
Cloudy and wet on Sunday, with some organised heavy showers passing over at times. Turning drier by the evening, with possibly some sunny spells before sunset. Maximum temperature 19 deg C (66 deg F).

Outlook for Monday to Wednesday:
Long spells of sunshine on Monday and Tuesday after early mist and fog clears, though the odd shower possible. Winds increasing by Tuesday. A band of rain arriving on Wednesday.
